GM asks for tax abatement to build high-tech engines

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Just four months after announcing the departure of the Detroit Diesel Allison Plant from Romulus, General Motors Friday revealed that the city is in the running as the site for that company's Chevrolet-Pontiac of Canada division.

GM is asking the Romulus city council for a $25.6 million tax abatement over the next 12 years, the maximum amount of time allowed for abatements.

CPC will take over production at the diesel Allison plant and invest $230 million in machinery and equipment, according to Nettie Seabrook, public affairs spokeswoman for CPC.

The city council may meet as soon as Jan. 6 in a public hearing to hear comments about the venture, according to the city clerk.

The abatement will allow GM to continue operating the Detroit Diesel Allison Plant, which currently produces 8.2-liter diesel engines and will soon consolidate activities in its Redford plant.

"Romulus is definitely under consideration," said Nettie Seabrook. "It's an excellent site, with an excellent labor force and the facility is newer. It's very well situated."

The diesel plant is said to be one of the most innovative, modern facilities in the auto-

GM, if the tax abatement is approved by council, will provide approximately $74.8 million to the state, county and local governments, according to cars and trucks for the 1988 model year and "beyond."

"CPC is going after the under-35 age market," Seabrook said. "We want to build high-quality, cutting-edge engines to service that market."

Seabrook said critical factors in selecting a site include finding the most "competitive" market for the new facility.

"That's why we are considering Romulus," she added.

Ohio has been tentatively named as a possibility for the facility, although Seabrook declined to comment.

"We want to concentrate our efforts on Romulus," she said Friday. "The decision of the city council is very important. Obviously, because the 1988 model year is approaching, we can't wait too long."

Because of the "excellent" relationship between GM and the city, McAnally said Romulus is the preferred site.

In 1975, GM expanded and built the diesel plant in Romulus.

At that time, a 12-year tax abatement was granted by the city. In August of this year, the company announced the consolidation of its Redford and Romulus activities and revealed that diesel production in the city would be phased out over the next two years.

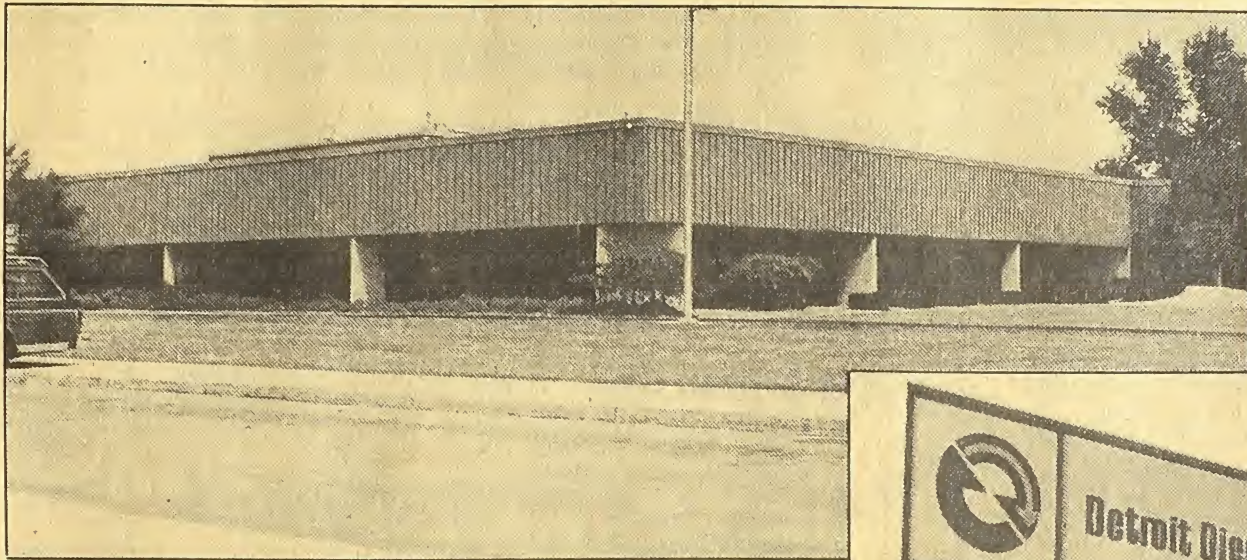

The departure meant 1300 jobs were jeopardized, according to UAW Local 163 Shop Chairman Larry Long.

"Everybody's glad to see them coming," Long said. "It means new hope for the younger seniority workers."

Local 163 workers recently voted to accept concessions in an agreement with CPC pending arrival in Romulus.

Modifications of the contract included consolidation of trade, combination of classification and acceptance of a 'team concept' where workers are allowed input in decision-making, according to Long.

In that vote, of the 1,100 workers present, 90 percent in production and 86 percent in trades, responded in favor to such an agreement.

motive industry and equipped with air conditioning, Seabrook said.

Representatives from CPC and the Romulus city council met Dec. 11 to discuss the ramifications of such a move, according to Mayor Beverly McAnally.

"The new abatement on personal property will more than double revenues to taxing entities over the next 12 years," McAnally said. "We are just thrilled that they are considering us."

McAnally.

Romulus, she indicated, will gain almost $11 million over the next 12 years, as opposed to the current $479,715 received in abated revenues from the diesel plant.

"It's just great news," she commented. "The opportunity for growth, plus the idea of more jobs opening plus keeping activity going in that plant is promising for the city."

According to Seabrook, CPC will build V-6 engines for a world class, high-tech line of

Local church looks above for help in constructing school

By CHRISTINE RIZK

Pastor Bob Rogers has his work cut out for him between now and January but he is not worried—he says he's got God on his side.

The four-year leader of the Romulus Church of God is faced with a court date at the beginning of the year for failure to comply with terms of a State of Michigan Fire Marshall's inspection notice.

The pastor has less than one month to finish building a new school facility at 8770 S. Wayne Road which will put the Romulus Christian Academy, a subsidiary of the church, in line with the law.

Rogers operates the Christian academy to provide approximately 82 K-12 grade students with a "quality education with a Christian perspective."

He was informed two years ago by State Fire Marshall Sgt. Frank Wright that the building used for teaching 40 students was in violation of the state's fire safety act.

He was further informed then that if he failed to comply within, he would face a fine and jail sentence.

"I've had the school for four and a half years in the basement of the church. Then the fire marshal told us it was not acceptable for students," Rogers explained. "Even though the place was safe for 500 (worshippers) on Sunday, it wasn't (safe) for 40 (students) on Monday."

Wright said the non-fire resistant building was more than one story and built of wood, a condition that led him to cite Rogers for the violations.

Stairways not properly separated, absence of fire alarms and the construction of the interior are among other problems with the facility, Wright said.

"We bent over backwards for (Rogers)," Wright said recently. "He didn't comply for over one year."

Rogers now faces the resumption of a trial, begun Nov. 6 following an arrest for the violations on the church premises, if corrections are not made before Jan. 14.

"He pleaded not guilty then," Wright said. "If correct (Continued on Page 3-A)

City to purchase present police building

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Board of Education agreed to sell the Romulus Elementary School to the city for use as a public safety building setting the path for the facility to be upgraded and repaired.

The board voted to accept the recommendation of Joel Carr, the school business administrator, during its Dec. 9 meeting.

The school district will deed the facility, vacated by the district in 1978 because of health regulations, on the condition that the property be reverted back to district when use as a public safety building ceases, Carr said.

"We are preparing to transfer ownership to the city as soon as the paperwork is completed," Carr explained. The district will charge the city $1. The city currently pays $1 per year to house its police and fire departments in the school building.

"We've maintained a friendly relationship," Carr said. "We were agreeable to selling the building but its not as though we're giving it up forever."

Carr said the district would like to hold onto the property, which may prove "useful 20 or 30 years from now."

Mayor Beverly McAnally, who suggested purchasing the building after the three millage proposals on the November election ballot failed, said (Continued on Page 3-A)

Auditing firm calls Romulus "solvent" for 1985-86 year

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

An audit for the city revealed a financially sound picture for the upcoming year and revealed a $3 million surplus in the 1984-85 budget, according to figures released by an accounting firm.

The accounting firm of Doyle, Litt, Kuras and Company further stated that the "financial position of the City of Romulus and the results of operations and changes in financial position" for 1984-85 indicated that revenues and expenditures were in "balance or very close."

The fiscal year of the city ended June 30, 1985.

Results of the audit, conducted in September, were explained during a meeting of the city council and the auditors last week.

The auditors, though, warned Mayor Beverly McAnally and the council that unless expenses were controlled, a financial "crunch" should occur in the 1986-87 fiscal year.

"The city can live off its surplus through the '86 fiscal year," said Chester Kuras, one of the auditors. "But unless expenses are controlled or revenues increased, there's going to be a shortfall."

McAnally said that her projections for the 1986-87 budget include "so many expenses that the general fund is pauperized."

McAnally said she would make adjustments in the 1986-87 budget to insure that it remained in balance, as required by law.

Anticipated revenues for the city during the 1985-86 year, as set forth by the mayor in her annual budget, is $8,248,745.

An excess from the previous budget, $3,203,916, is expected to be applied to the current budget. According to McAnally, some of surplus is from unused provisional funds set aside for emergencies.

Of the $3 million excess, only $2.1 million will be applied to the general fund. The remainder will be spent on a "variety" of pending expenditures, McAnally said.

"(The city) is definitely solvent," Kuras said. "That $2.1 million will cover expenses for this year."

The $8 million figure anticipated for operating expenses during the current year is comparable, according to Kuras, to expenditures during 1984 and 1985.

Those figures, $8,015,784 and $8,238,501, respectively, mean that spending for the city will remain fairly "even" in expenditures in the upcoming year.

McAnally said she will have to consider cutting expenses for the 1986-87 fiscal year, including the possibility of cutting city programs if funds for operation cannot be accrued.

Hopefully, she said, new activities will come into the city to help "pay taxes."

In addition to the financial portrait provided, the auditors suggested that the city make its water and sewer debt payments out of the water and sewer fund instead of the general fund, which, according to McAnally, "continues to pauperize" that account.

The council, she said, will have to direct her to do so if the general fund is to be less encumbered.

tions are made, the charges will be dismissed."

Rogers said he and his congregation are fervently working to meet the deadline because, he added, if construction is not completed, he will face the prospect of either closing the school or being sent to jail.

"We are very committed to christian education," he said. "I don't want to close the school--that's never happened before. Besides, the state could then get (us) for truancy."

Construction of the new school, which is already underway, was financed partially through the church and loans.

Rogers, who was a journeyman construction worker before joining the church, said that all the labor is provided by himself and his congregation.

"Our people have done everything they could," he proudly stated, testifying to the christian spirit that pervades the the community of church goers. "We've literally built the whole thing ourselves."

So far, members have raised "thousands" of dollars in an attempt to keep the school open.

Rogers estimates that the group will need to raise at least $2000 a week for the next four weeks if that goal is to be met.

"This church has been here for 28 years; the school for four and a half--we want to make sure it continues."

Adding that the fire marshal has been "very kind", Rogers said he recognizes the importance of providing a safe environment for the students.

"It's not a matter of his will against mine," he said. "And I have nothing against the regulations (Wright) is trying to enforce."

Meanwhile, the battle of wills continues, that is, the will of those workers who are convinced that the school will be finished by Jan. 14.

"I know we'll finish--we've got the Lord on our side," Joyce Helton the Christian Academy secretary said.

Local charity offers helping hand

Scores of charitable events and organizations emerge during the Christmas holidays--and many of them are put away and forgotten once the season comes to an end, like so much wrapping paper or Christmas neckties. A notable exception is Helping Hand, Inc., which has a particularly appropriate motto, year-round: "Helping people is our business."

Helping Hand (37510 Huron River Drive, Romulus) has been having trouble with its telephones recently, but the organization's volunteers have been busier than ever, lengthening their hours to provide services to the needy. Helping Hand is open from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

A number of programs are offered. Project Help provides indigent mothers with complete outfits of new baby clothing for that first trip home from the hospital. Helping Hand also provides same-day certification for the Focus: Hope program, which gives food to mothers who are expectant or who have children under 6.

Project Food collects food from churches, schools, and other organizations so that the poor and elderly can get food in emergency situations. Rather than collect for Thanksgiving or Christmas "food baskets," Helping Hand collects food throughout the entire winter, and distributes it when it is urgently needed.

Helping Hand operates a referral and information service, which has succeeded in getting help from organizations like the Social Security Administration and the Department of Social Services.

Perhaps the most visible form of aid is the Helping Hand

Thrift Shop, which donates clothes to the needy and sells usable old clothing to the general public at low prices; men's shirts may cost only a quarter, and coats range in price from 75 cents to $75, for a persian wool coat. Sales go toward paying the expenses of Helping Hand. The organization is completely dependent on the community: sales from the thrift shop and support from church and school organizations keep it going. The members of Helping Hand are eager for paying customers or donors. For further information, call 941-5323.

Substance abuse program aims at youths

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Youth Assistance Program is looking for adults who have time to "help our youth soar like eagles", according to coordinator Margaret LeDuc.

The youth assistance program is designed to address the needs of delinquent and pre-delinquent youths and their families.

Training sessions for volunteer counselors are available for four consecutive weeks beginning on January 14, 1986 from 6 p.m. - 9 p.m. Tuesday evenings.

ings.

The city sponsored program will work at the local level to guide and direct the youths towards a "more cohesive family structure" and help develop their awareness of community responsibility through community involvement, LeDuc said.

Counselors must be at least 21 years of age and be available for training before meeting with the youths.

Youths will be referred by the police, courts, schools or by voluntary enrollment, LeDuc said.

The theory behind the program, she added, is to decrease older juvenile and adult criminal behavior by diversion and early intervention.

As a result of the counseling, increased parental understanding is expected to help alleviate juvenile behavior.

Families and youths are interviewed to determine eligibility for the program. Staff members will explain the participant's responsibilities and assess his or her response.

A contract is designed to establish goals, including recreational activities, tutoring, work service, positive attitudes displayed toward family members, outside counseling for family members and parenting classes, to assure that the individual is adhering to his or her responsibilities.

The program stems from a county-wide organization that deals with pre-delinquent youths, LeDuc said.

Romulus recently received a government block grant that enabled the city to participate.

Counselors will meet with the youth for one or two hours per week for eight weeks. Upon discharge from the program, follow-up visits are required every six months for two years.

Interested adults can contact 941-0666, ext. 250.

SAVE $500 OR MORE...Help yourself and our Romulus road crews. Isn't it nice to have the snow scraped off our streets in the winter time? Have you ever noticed what seems to be an avalanche along side an otherwise neatly manicured roadway? These avalanches are usually the result of a vehicle being parked on the street at the time the snow plow comes through.

The piles of snow left around a parked vehicle not only hampers access to that car, it presents a danger as well.

Imagine yourself driving carefully down a slick street--a car is coming toward you. You begin to pass one another and...BLAM! A fender bender. Your front passenger wheel began to spin as it dug into one of those small avalanches.

It caused your steering wheel to turn your car into the oncoming auto.

Although you weren't driving very fast, the damages are costly enough to finance the next space shuttle!

This has been an ongoing problem. Our city has an ordinance which is designed to reduce this problem. You may know of it or might have forgotten about it, but it does exist and mandates that cars not park in areas labeled "NO PARKING--SNOW REMOVAL".

The ordinance says it is unlawful for anyone to park on streets where snow or ice has accumulated to depths of three inches or more.

Remember, cars will be towed away at the owner's expense if the vehicles are in violation of the ordinance.

That means a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not to exceed 90 days.

See what I mean? Save yourself some trouble and money. Make it easier for the road crew to do their job.

Prevent crunching of some poor soul's fender. DON'T PARK ON THE STREET!

documents have already been forwarded to the school district for final approval.

McAnally promoted the idea of maintaining the facility and upgrading it to meet fire and safety regulations after the November elections.

The building, constructed in 1923, was vacated by the school district when it was found to be in violation of safety codes and found unsuitable for school children.

The building was selected as a site for the police and fire departments in 1981 when the Wayne County Sheriff's Department pulled out of the city.

The building has been plagued with heat problems, leaky roofs and prison maintenance problems because, department officials suggest, the building was "built for school children, not police personnel."

McAnally suggested renovating the building, including replacing faulty boilers, repairing roofs and altering the structure of the building to enhance the facility.

The facade, however, would be preserved, she said, because of the esthetic value.

"I'm suggesting that it is one alternative," McAnally said. "We may ask for a special bond issue or a special millage and test that with the community--at this point, I just don't know."

McAnally said that whatever the solution, remodeling is "two or three years" off.

"I know we have to improve and upgrade," McAnally said. "It's just a matter of time."

Voters rejected three police and fire millages designed to support public safety operations.

Proposal 3 would have allowed the city to build a $2.5 million facility next to city hall.

All three failed overwhelmingly at the polls.

Mack blasts drain commissioner

The Office of Wayne County Drain Commissioner should be abolished.

That's the conviction of County Commissioner Milt Mack(11 district) who said that the present Drain Commissioner, Charles Youngblood, abuses his authority and his office.

Mack, who chairs an ad hoc committee, the Drain Task Force that is investigating alleged wrongdoings by the Drain Commissioner's Office, appeared before Belleville City Council Monday night to update the newly-elected council officials on county programs and affairs.

"There is no system of check-and-balances and there is no reliable method of assuring that drain assessments are proper and quite frankly there can be documented a history of abuse of the taxpayers by the drain commissioner over the past several years," Mack said.

Mack pointed out that "a classic example of those abuses surfaced in the recent assessments of the Vandiar Drain which runs through Huron Township.

"Vandiar is a small rural drain which empties into the Huron River near Middlebelt Road and, in 1983, Huron Township hired a contractor under a permit from the drain commissioner to clean out 1.2 miles of that drain. The work was accomplished at a total cost of slightly less than $46,000.

"In 1984, the Wayne County Drain Commissioner attempted to clean out a 1.7 mile stretch of the same drain immediately north of the cleaned out section. Total charges by the drain commissioner was slightly less than $260,000 or approximately five times as much. Please let him (Youngblood) explain that."

The Task Force was organized in the spring of 1985 to investigate costs of rural drain cleanage and to find alternative methods to solve the problems caused by spring flooding which occurs in western Wayne County during most Springs.

Mack alleges that "most of the drains in Western Wayne County have not been cleaned in 30 to 40 years and, as a result, in the spring many of the farms are so flooded that farmers can't plant their crops consequently losing a substantial proportion of their income."

Mack believes that the voters in Wayne County should have an opportunity to voice their opinion about the fate of the Drain Commissioner's Office.

"I would like to see the commissioners place this issue on the ballot and let the voters decide if they want to continue with the present system."

If the voters should concur with Mack's beliefs, then Mack said the drain commissioner's office abolished, then the duties could be split between the Executive's Office and the Department of Public Services.

dan's dogs

by dan a morris

Adopting a pet from another person places the owner in a precarious situation. I'm not referring to the puppies or very young dogs adopted at the Humane Society or from an advertisement or neighbor, but to the 2 to 3-year-old dog being given away or sold. Adoption agencies screen the prospective parents carefully and repeatedly to make certain the baby will fit into their lives and be taken care of in a loving and healthy environment. Obviously, this same attitude is not possible when selling puppies. There is no law governing the placement of dogs in the "proper" household. At least there is a society for cruelty prevention. It is because of this inability to screen prospective dog owners that many pets (as well as owners) find themselves in that precarious position mentioned earlier. What happens, many times, is the owner takes a dog from someone advertising "free to a good home." The buyer picks up the older dog, happy to bring joy to his family as well as to dog. The dog enters the house defecates in the family room and lifts his leg on the $100 potted palm. The wife is "somewhat" dismayed but hubby says, "He just has to get used to us." By the second week, one velvet cushion has been demolished and junior's baseball glove is minus the thumb. Dad says, "I'll buy the kid another glove and as far as that cushion goes, we don't need it anyway!" The third week changes the temperature around the house because Fido "accidentally" chewed Dad's 3-wood. It took this minor mistake on the dog's part to get dad upset. When dad goes to reprimand Fido, the dog rolls back his lip, snarls, snorts and snaps. It's true, the sentence: "Free to a good home" really said, "Guard dog - free . . . etc." To make a long story short, the owner simply didn't know what he was getting. Had the original owner "turned" the dog mean by beating him or isolating him? Was the dog free of internal parasites or unnoticed injury? Was the dog around people enough to behave in a friendly, non-aggressive and sociable manner? Had the dog ever tried to actually bite anyone? So proceed cautiously when becoming a second owner. Try to adopt a pet from someone you know personally. Find out why the dog has to be given away. Question the habits of dog and owner. What was the routine for feeding, training and playing? Encourage the owner to be honest about any personality traits or bad habits the dog has - many can be corrected, some cannot. Your main objective is to be as good for the dog as the dog will be for the family. Not every dog suits every household just as every household may not be the perfect one for that particular dog. Shop wisely and cautiously before accepting someone else's mistake. Remember, it's not the dog's fault. He, above all, can become a victim of abuse and end up taking it out on the wrong person at the wrong time and end up being put to sleep. If only the dog could shop for an owner . . . CONSUMER ALERT

The Serviceability of Silk

Silk is used in a wide variety of weaves and textures in both women's and men's garments.

Beautiful? - Yes. Serviceable? - Not always.

The cost of the garment often has little to do with its wearability. In fact, the majority of the problems have come with the most expensive labels.

Color Loss and Discoloration

Poor dyes used on silks are affected by the spillage of food or liquor. The spillage may result in rings which cannot be removed. The normally harmless chloride salts in food and liquor will cause color loss in poorly dyed silk. Fading of color from sunlight is not unusual. Abrasion or chafing in normal wear may result in loss of brightness or depth of color.

Fabric Splitting

Because some silk yarns are fine, the fabric may split at points of wear. Tight-fitting garments will strain and split the fabric. Because of the chloride salts in perspiration, food or liquor spillage and underarm deodorants, all may cause the fiber to degrade, resulting in fabric splitting.

DOs and DON'Ts

- DO use dress shields to prevent perspiration from attacking the fabric.
- DO protect silk garments while eating or drinking.
- DO see a professional drycleaner after staining the garment.
- DON'T buy a garment too tight.
- DON'T attempt stain removal.
- DON'T buy bright or vivid colors.
- DON'T give silk garments hard wear.

Christmas shoppers aren't hanging it up yet

By RAY DAY
ANP Staff Writer

'Twas seven days before Christmas (that's today in case you're wondering) and all through the house, not a creature was stirring, why? Simple, everyone is out buying sweaters and red silk ties and Commodore 64s and Cabbage Patch Dolls and scarves and hats and . . .

For local retailers, the Christmas rush is real - it should be as there are only seven shopping days left. Most businesses are reporting an upswing in sales this year, although the holiday boom is late in coming.

Among the most popular gifts this year is the high technology craze of computers, VCRs and laser discs. One business thriving on this craze is the Soft House Computer store in Garden City.

"The computers themselves are doing pretty well. But, most of the accessory items are doing really well," said Larry Berman of his store's business this season.

Berman pointed to a high demand for computer add-ons this year including disk drives and telephone modems. Most popular this Christmas is the Commodore 64, a low-cost home computer for the "average" computer user, according to Berman.

When looking for a computer, Berman advises shoppers to shop practically.

"The best thing to look for is the computer that satisfies your needs the most," said Berman. "Don't pick out a computer and work around it - buy a computer that will suit your needs."

The Commodore 64 sells for around $130, or $180 if a high-speed disk drive is added.

Other businesses boasting of equal holiday successes are the various clothing and apparel shops throughout the area. Hot this year is reported to be sweaters - red ones, blue ones, large ones, small ones, expensive ones, cheap ones and all others in between.

"Business has been very good, not great. Sweaters, pants, blouses, coats, dresses - they're all doing good," said Marvin Kahn, owner of Stuart's Apparel in Wayne.

Not doing so well this year, and in some case "bombing" as one businessman put it, are bath robes, heavy winter gear and flannel shirts.

And although the joke has it that dad doesn't want a tie this Christmas, Bill Mulholland of Mulholland's Dry Goods in Wayne, reports that the red silk ones are hot among his shoppers.

Aside from the traditional stores selling the mundane, ordinary and nothing-unusual type of gift, specialty stores by the dozen have cropped up this year and are reported to be teaming with the shoppers who want that unique Christmas gift this year.

"I'm selling a lot of clocks, hoops, stocking stuffers - a whole lot of small things," said Connie Siese, owner of Creative Treasures, a craft store in Wayne.

Along with the handmade wooden clocks that the store has become famous for this year, Siese is selling Afghans by the dozen and tater bins (wooden boxes used to hold potatoes, obviously) like they are going out of style. But, they never really were in style and that's the good part of giving a craft gift, according to Siese.

"People really like handmade items. My clock man can't keep up with the orders," said Siese who reports that nearly 100 customers mill her store each day, greatly ahead of the 25 figure that marks a good day during the "non-holiday season".

Even though business is good, most local merchants feel that their customers have waited this year to begin purchasing their gifts. Most hope that these final seven days will mark the most profitable ones of the year.

And there's that figure again, seven days. Only seven more days to do the shopping, the milling, the pushing and shoving in the malls, the roadways and at home. Seven more days to pick out the right gifts,

Local holiday shoppers are continuing to mill area shopping malls in hopes of finding that "perfect" Christmas gift. Sweaters of all types, shapes and sizes are reported to be a big hit, as are red silk ties, handmade clocks and high-technology items.

For he's a jolly Goodfellow

There they were, again this year...out in the bitter cold, dodging traffic and making their gentle solicitations. As automobiles approached intersections in all our communities recently, motorists were asked to buy a specially prepared newspaper from one of these bundled up souls.

We speak, of course, of the Goodfellows, those former newsboys who take to the streets each year in an effort to fund their altruistic efforts and provide a Christmas for needy children and their families in the area. While they are not all former news-carriers, the organization has its roots there--but now, there are those from every walk of life who participate in providing for those less fortunate than themselves.

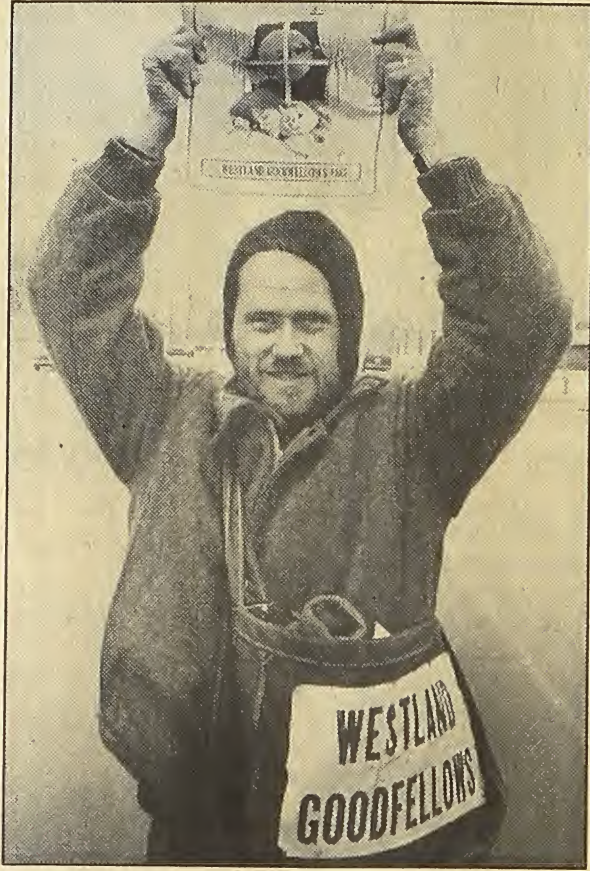

There are firefighters, policemen, businessowners, mechanics, doctors, lawyers, city and school administrators and any number of others who approach motorists selling their papers and hoping to collect enough funding to provide for all who need it in their communities.

And in some areas, those motorists were more than cooperative. Both Westland and Canton Township reported record donations this year, while Inkster had a lack of volunteers, as did Belleville.

It seems strange, somehow that while some gave and gave so much, other communities found great difficulty in meeting the goals set for providing for the needy in the community.

This is the 76th year for the Goodfellows, and the organization has changed a great deal during that time--and yet, the basis for the effort hasn't changed at all. These are people willing to do more than merely offer $5 or $10 for a good cause. The Goodfellows offer more of themselves than that. They are willing to bear the inconvenience, the cold, the rudeness, the refusals and the loss of their time to provide a community service.

The Goodfellows technique of offering a newspaper has been emulated by many. Too often, some argue, there are workers from one charitable organization or another found offering items for "sale" at intersections. But the Goodfellows are the men who are there only one time a year with their newspapers and their cannisters. They are a once-a-year group with only one real purpose, only one project and only one aim...to help those who need help at a very special and poignant time of the year.

The good done by these people is immeasurable...as is the grace with which they perform their work. There is no self-aggrandizement here, no rhetoric-packed meetings or hard-fought political cause. No...the Goodfellows are just that, good fellows, and their work has the single-minded purpose of providing for others through their individual and collective efforts.

They are a group worthy of the support of each and every one of us and they are people worthy of our respect and gratitude. There are far too few willing to expend the personal effort and sacrifice these volunteers make to improve the lot of their neighbors.

Goodfellows, indeed.

The voters speak

Voters in Inkster sent a very clear message to members of their school board last week...and that message should be heeded by elected officials in every community in this area.

These voters chose to approve a new 5-mill tax increase for the support of their schools...but it took two elections to win their approval of this higher tax...the first in nine years.

The members of the Inkster School Board and the administrators in that district are well aware of the message here: The public is going to demand accountability for the funding they provide. No longer will millages be approved merely for the asking.

While the economic picture is much brighter than it has been in past years in this area, taxpayers learned a great deal while dollars were tight. They realize that perhaps tax dollars in both schools and city halls were being treated with less than the respect they deserve...and they are putting a stop to it.

The Inkster millage was one which we wholeheartedly supported. The administrators and members of the school board presented a good case for the increase which is necessary and will be spent in a prudent and cautious manner. Administrators will be especially cautious, considering the initial defeat of the proposal and the mood of the voters providing those funds.

We repeat...other communities should take heed of this same message. Voters now realize that there are more economical ways of providing city and township services, of educating our children and of managing a municipality. The attitude of those who provide the funds used for these purposes is one of caution and doubt, and those asking for more in the way of taxes will have to be very sure they can prove the need beyond a doubt before the climate of such caution changes.

This situation could be of great benefit for all concerned. A mutual respect for the taxpayer and the administrator might develop...each realizing the efforts and respecting the situation of the other. Those budgeting tax monies should realize that they are not easily come by...and those providing that same funding may learn the agony of preparing such budgets and providing the services citizens demand on limited funding.

Taxes are serious business...on both sides.

other newspapers in your chain. First of all, I feel you violated journalistic standards when you ran the story with no attempt to get my side.

The fact is that the story came from a release prepared by the Republican National Campaign Committee and you demonstrated considerable party bias when you elected to use it with absolutely no effort to contact me or my staff. In doing so you allowed your newspaper to become a propaganda organ for the Republican party.

Moreover, the article is flawed in terms of fact.

The workfare issue in question would have required all the states to adopt uniform mandatory standards with no regard for problems peculiar to a certain state or region. What I voted against was an amendment that would have denied the states work programs that fit their particular need. The problem is that if we simply mandate a program for all states it becomes a full employment

Mildred, Michigan and a celebration

Last week Mildred Hanchett, historian extraordinaire, passed from our midst after a lifetime of work endeavoring to preserve Michigan history. Ironically, as construction of the addition to the Wayne Historical Museum, which had been so important to her, reached completion...so, too, did her life.

As I listened, and watched the Adercraft Club of Detroit program last Friday in Southfield, I thought of Mildred, and how much she would have enjoyed being a part of the Sesquicentennial celebration for Michigan.

Appropriately conducted at the Michigan Inn, the unveiling last Friday of plans for the festivities was presented to a packed gathering. Included in the program was a most enjoyable performance of the Michigan Fife and Drum Corp in full period costume. Their rhythmic notes were inspiring and emotionally awakening as the instrumental brigade marched in, performed to the delight of all, and then tromped out in unison, drums banging.

Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin gave us a synopsis of the Sesquicentennial agenda, and it is awesome. All of us will be hearing a great deal more about the planned events for the 1987 celebration. The itinerary will include such wonderments as the arrival of the tall ships in the port of Detroit.

These magnificent vessels will then sail to Traverse City and arrive there to coincide with the National Governors' Conference. All 50 governors are expected to be in attendance, and join with the President of the United States in signing a historic document commemorating the entry of Michigan into the union of states.

There will be many commemorative debuts not the least of which will be the introduction of a new Michigan history textbook and works of art, commissioned in honor of the occasion. Also planned is a conservation effort to expand, upgrade, and improve Michigan green areas.

Also scheduled is a ball at the Edison Institute in Dearborn, a new $42 million state archives and museum building in Lansing, a cultural festival, new discovery trails, and so much more that it is staggering. Suffice it to say, you will never forget it.

Joe Muer, restaurateur and brother of Chuck Muer, owner of Wayne Charley's, has been appointed chairman of the 150th birthday by Governor Jim Blanchard. Muer was on hand Friday to address the largest advertising club in the world to herald the coming extravaganza.

After viewing a multi-projector spectacular slide presentation, the audience was given yet another treat. The Wayne State University Mens' Chorus introduced a new song written for the Sesquicentennial called, "I am Michigan" that captures the spirit and tone of the state magnificently.

Beyond my forest you will see my cities rise majestically...

...I am winter whites and summer blues

...I am spring perfumes and autumn hues...

I am new, but I am old,

come see my history unfold...

I am Michigan, a feeling forever.

Those who have been born and raised in this beautiful state, who did not stop believing in it only to head for the Sunbelt during the recent economic depression...they will most enjoy this song.

There is a need to be reminded of why they didn't give up on Michigan, why they didn't lose the vision of the future they believe Michigan would have. They are proud of their state.

'Year of the Eagle?'

Romulus cagers are off and running

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Undefeated Romulus will be heading for Lexington, Kentucky on Saturday to compete in the prestigious Hillbrook Classic where the finest high school basketball teams in the country will take on prep teams from Kentucky.

"We are obviously honored and elated to have received the invitation," said Al Wilkerson,

Romulus High's head cage coach. "We're really looking forward to the trip and the competition."

Romulus is scheduled to play Mason County, Kentucky at 2:15 p.m., Dec. 21 at the University of Kentucky. Other headliners include Hyattsville Maryland's Dematha, Macon, Georgia's Southwest High School, Aiken South Carolina, led by 6-11 center, James Munlyn, playing the top teams in Kentucky.

In the meantime, Romulus tuned up for its trip South with an impressive 91-48 victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer. It was their third consecutive victory of the young campaign.

The Eagles broke the game wide open in the second period when they rattled the Pioneers 23-5 to grab a 35-20 halftime lead. The outcome of the game was never in doubt after the initial half.

Stevie Glenn led the Eagle scorers with 20 points, while Juan Street contributed 19 and 6-9 center, Terry Mills, provided 18 points, and also chipped in 15 rebounds and 11 blocked shots.

All five Romulus starters are scoring in double figures.

"And that's the kind of team balance we need in order to make this season a successful one," Wilkerson added.

But Romulus had to sweat to pull out a 66-63 victory from the mitts of Warren DeLaSalle.

The Eagles blew a nine point lead (36-27) halftime lead and struggled the final two periods. It was not until Avery Jones came through with two key baskets down the stretch and Juan Street's 18-foot jumper that Romulus iced the victory.

Warren, ranked 10th in the state, didn't give up despite the balanced scoring provided by Mills, who had 24 points. Jones and Glenn finished with 13 and 10, respectively.

"We have a weakness and that is we haven't learned to put teams away as evidenced in the DeLaSalle game," said Wilkerson. "We didn't protect our lead very well, and we're just going to have to do that."

Romulus buried Kalamazoo Loy Norrix, 109-55, as Mills fired in 36 points to lead the way. Bill Johnson came up with 16 and Street and Glenn split 30 points while Jones finished with 10.

Monroe deals Belleville 1st cage loss, 51-50

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Off to their best basketball start in recent years, Belleville High and Coach Leon Birdyshaw believe that the 1985-86 campaign can be one of the Tigers' best.

"If we can correct our mistakes and steadily improve," said the Tiger coach, "then I believe we will have a good year. We do have things happening out there on the court that we didn't have before."

Belleville launched the season against a strong Livonia Stevenson quintet and humbled the Spartans 58-54. The Tigers then took on Trenton for their Wolverine "A" Conference opener and managed to come away with a cliffhanging 70-69 victory. However, Friday night Monroe burst the Tigers' bubble, 51-50, in overtime.

Belleville was to play Saginaw Eisenhower last night before taking a break for the holidays. They'll return to the hardwood after the New Year on Jan. 3 in Dearborn against Divine Child.

Birdyshaw said he believed that "allowing Monroe to set the tempo of the game cost us this victory."

"We played their game and not ours," he added. "It was a slowed up pace, and we just couldn't do the things I believe we are capable of doing."

Shooting 50 percent at the foul line also proved costly for Belleville.

Belleville's Lewis Willis sent the game into the overtime period when he connected on a pair of free throws, making it 46-44. But Monroe came back after Ladion Tait scored the first basket to give the Tigers a momentary lead. Monroe outscored their rivals 5-2 to pick up the decision.

"We exposed some of our weaknesses in this game," said Birdyshaw, "and lapses on defense were among those weaknesses."

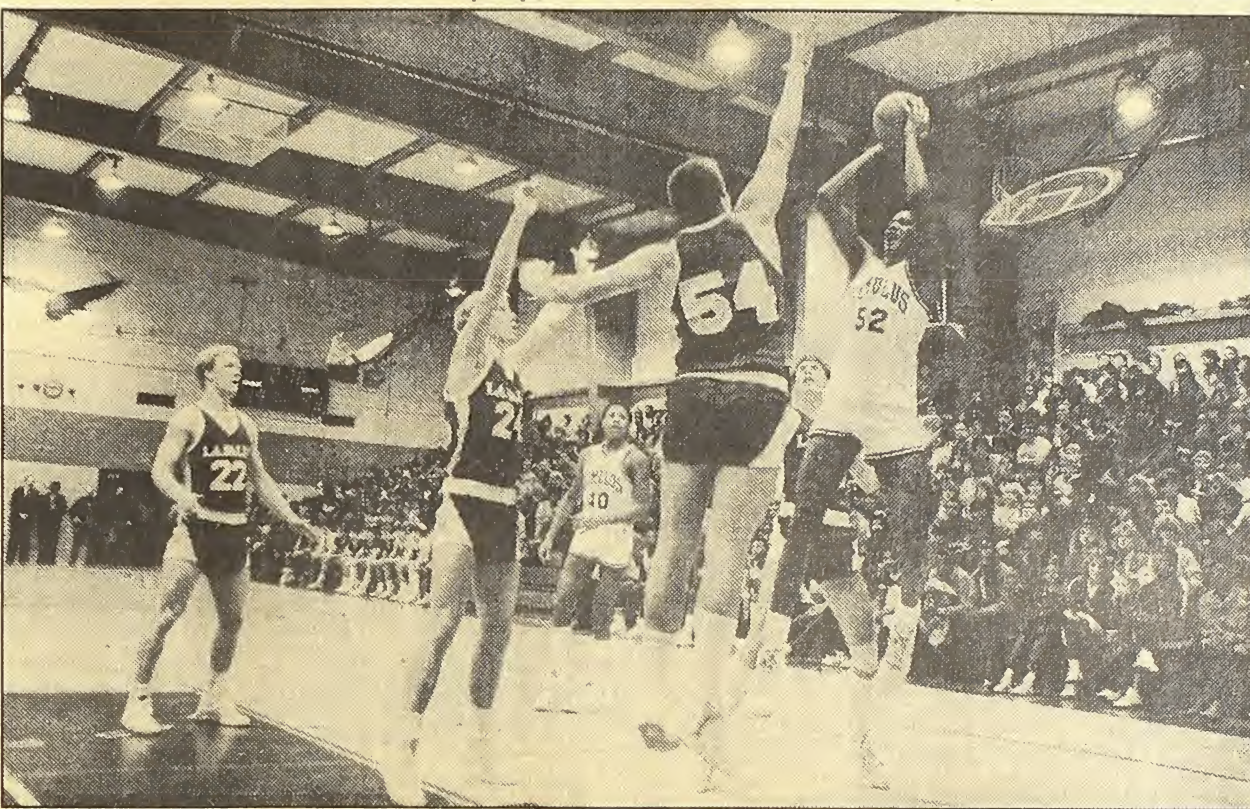

A close duel throughout, the two conference rivals were deadlocked at 6-6 for the first period, then the Tigers nudged ahead 20-18 for the first half. Monroe came back to outscore their rivals 18-14 in the third period, but Belleville had the edge 15-10 the last quarter.

Belleville canned only eight of 20 charities as compared to the Trojans' 11 of 22.

Pacing the Tigers was Chris Grantham who sank seven field goals but he hit on only two of six charities for a team high 16 points. Monroe's Tim Foley, a rugged 6-4 forward, tossed in a game high 18 points.

Showing why he is considered one of the finest high school cagers in the country this year, Romulus's 6-9 senior, Terry Mills(52) sank 36 points in the season opener to lead the Eagles to a 109-55 victory over Kalamazoo Loy Nor. He also contributed 24 in a 66-63 win over DeLaSalle and blocked 11 shots, collected 15 rebounds and scored 18 in Romulus' 91-48 triumph over Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Early test for cage champ

Unbeaten Wayne, Fordson clash

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Defending Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball champs, Wayne Memorial, picked up where they left off last year by burying conference rival, Lincoln Park, 72-44, last Friday, but coach Chuck Henry realizes that if the champs are to repeat in 1986 they will have to prove their title worthiness at Fordson Friday night.

Fordson, a perennial cage power, is coming off of a heart-breaking one-point defeat at the hands of city rival, Dearborn Divine Child, and the Tractors will be ready, Henry warns.

"Fordson always fields exceptional basketball talent," Henry said, "and you always have to go in there prepared to play or they will just blow you out of their gym."

Coming off of a 21-2 season, Henry categorizes this year's club as one that possesses a lot of quickness but lacks size.

"We lost Pollis Robinson and Howard Flowers," said Henry, "and these kids gave us a multi-dimensional game. We're rebuilding our line-up with some excellent athletes who are a scrappy bunch of players."

Wayne opened the defense of its title against Lincoln Park who managed to make it a game with the Zebras for one period. Tied at 13-all at the end of the initial period, Wayne broke the game open thanks to a 24-6 edge the next frame. Mark Robinson sparked the champs with six of his game high 22 points in the turnaround

Tiger tankers make it 2-0

Belleville tankers made it 2-in-a-row as the Tigers dunked out-of-conference rival, Adrian, 52-31. In their season opener, Belleville disposed of Plymouth Canton 53-30.

The Tiger relay teams finished first against Adrian as Matt Stoelton, Mike Ackron, Dave Traskos and Martin Duda combined for a 1:49.92, while the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Jeff Thompson, Eric Snider, Stoelton and Lynch was forced to settle for a second place due to its 3:36.00 effort.

Lynch accounted for a double victory as he touched in first for the 50-yard freestyle (23.45) and was clocked in the winning time of 1:06.29 for the 100-yard breaststroke. Finishing behind Lynch in the breaststroke was teammate Ackron who turned in a 1:08.88.

The Tigers got a 1-2 finish in the 200-yard freestyle from the duo of Jeff Thompson (1:55.98) and Eric Snider (1:56.78), and the winners were first and third with Ackron and Eric Lawson in the 200 yard individual medley. The winning time was posted as 2:15.68.

Belleville was second best on the diving boards. Raul Estrada piled up 182.65 for the runners-up spot.

Traskos and Martin Duda provided the Tigers with a second (1:02.17) and fourth place (1:05.23), respectively, in the 100-yard butterfly, and Snider was first in the 100-yard freestyle. He turned in with a 53.19. This in that event was Jeff Thompson whose time was 54.79.

Lawson and Wally Rochowiak emerged with a first and second in the 500-yard freestyle. Their performances were 5:29.02 and 5:40.04, respectively. And, in the 100 backstroke, Stoelton and Traskos went 1-2 thanks to 1:00.28 and 1:04.55 performances.

Plymouth Canton also discovered it was no match this year for the Tigers who came away with a 53-30 victory. Again, Belleville carded eight of the 11 events, dominating both relays. The line-up of Stoelton, Ackron, Traskos and Duda was the winning combination for the medley relay (1:50.57) while Thompson, Snider, Stoelton and Lynch proved equal to the task for the 400-yard freestyle relay, covering the distance in 3:40.28.

Lynch again was a double winner as he coasted to victory in the 200 freestyle (1:52.43) and also pulled in with a 1:06.20 to claim a first in the breaststroke. Snider duplicated Lynch's feat, but in the 200-yard medley and also finishing first for the 100-yard freestyle.

Romulus grapplers undefeated

Using the end of its line-up as a lever, Romulus pulled out a close victory on the mats over Adrian to remain undefeated in six outings.

"It was a good meet," said Romulus coach Wayne Schimming, "and the final four matches pulled it out for us."

The final four had to overcome a six point Adrian edge after 155-pounder Jim Thompson pinned his counterpart from Romulus, Ralph Farrell, in 1:31.

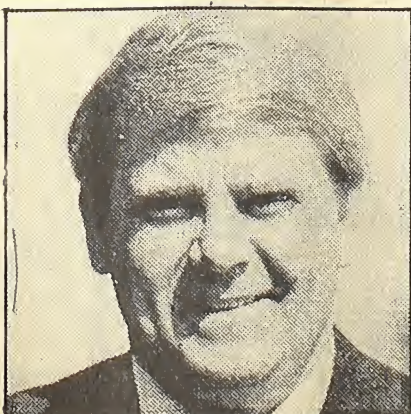

Then, Romulus' Bob Webb went to work. He destroyed Adrian's 167-pounder, Larry Cruz in 1:25, bringing Bob Crain and Mitch Hill to the mats for the 185-pound match.

Crain, in the Romulus uniform, worked 1:25 to earn the victory. Teammates Bob O'Day and heavyweight Steve Anderson also claimed victories by falls.

Here is the results of the meet:

98-Hung Nguyen(R) pinned Neal Garrison(A), 0:25
105-Rocky Wingfield(A) pinned Rog Hay(R), 1:20

Ex-Salem cager at Albion

Former Plymouth Salem cage star Regina Rojas is a member of the 1985 Briton women's basketball team. Rojas, a freshman guard, hopes to help improve last year's record of 8-4 (15-5 over-all). The Britons finished in third place in the MIAA in 1985. Under head coach Cathy Lirg, who is entering her third year at Albion, the Britons hold a positive outlook on the 1985-86 season. Rojas is a 1985 graduate of Plymouth Salem High and is a resident of Canton Township.

Rockets rip Farmington, 69-49 Glenn puts it all together

By KEITH DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Not that the Rockets of Westland John Glenn or their coach, Gordie Davis, were worried about it, but the young men in red, white, and blue won their first game of the 1985 season last Friday night before an enthusiastic crowd, 69-49, over Farmington.

The victory couldn't have come at a better time for these Rockets.

Not only did the triumph snap a two-game Glenn losing streak, but the win came in their inaugural appearance in the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball circuit.

"We needed to win," said Davis, who is beginning his 14th year as mentor of the Rockets. "We're fairly inexperienced with three juniors starting. I was just glad to see us play with so much enthusiasm and intensity."

But certainly the first quarter was no indication of how the game would go. The Farmington Falcons came out and took it to the Rockets, intending to put them away early and drop them to a 0-3. Farmington got four points from Kyle Mutz, Bruce Kratt, and Andy Racka.

But the Rockets didn't want this one slipping away early, so Andy Grazulis and Steve Hawley combined for all 15 points to take a 15-12 lead after one quarter.

Early in the second quarter, Hawley hit Greg Bates with a pass that the 6-0 junior guard tossed in and the Rockets led, 19-12, and the pedal was beginning to hit the metal. Grazulis scored six points to bring his first half total to 14, and Ken Gietzen and Dan Liedel came off the bench to score four apiece, as the Rockets took a 34-24 halftime command.

"We just didn't want to let down on defense," said Davis of his second half strategy. "We just want to play hard all the time. We wanted to go inside more in the second half."

The Falcons kept within 10 points because of 6-of-10 free throw shooting, but the Rocket defense, led by the shot-blocking heroics of Jerry Diette-Spiff and Gietzen's rebounding, helped hold Farmington to only three field goals in the second quarter.

"I was really pleased with the defense, especially with our checking out," said Davis of his team.

This game was of the firsts --first win of the season, first WLAA win, and the first appearance in a Glenn uniform for All-State tailback Tony Boles. The 6-2, 196-pound forward scored two points but his value came on the floor as he passed for four assists, two of them to Grazulis streaking down the floor.

"Tony will definitely help us just because he's a good athlete," Davis noted of his newest player.

Farmington came out in the third quarter with a stiffer defense holding Grazulis to only two points. But the Falcons forgot one thing --Hawley's outside shooting touch. The 6-3 junior guard lit the scoreboard with 10 points. That allowed the Rockets to widen their lead to 12, 46-34, after three quarters of action.

The lead expanded to the final 20-point margin as Davis began clearing the bench early and often. Perhaps the prettiest play of the evening came when Hawley hit Grazulis with a perfect downcourt pass that would have made head football coach Chuck Gordon smile.

Both Grazulis and Diette-Spiff added five apiece. Kratt led the Falcons with 15.

After engaging Farmington Harrison on Tuesday, Glenn will return home Friday night to host North Farmington, then the two-week Christmas hiatus.

Salem wins Glenn tourney Rockets, Romulus finish 3rd on mats

Wrestling powerhouse Plymouth Salem established itself as one of the teams to beat in the area by capturing top honors at the John Glenn Wrestling Invitational over the weekend.

Salem amassed 154 team points to turn back a field of 15 teams, including previously undefeated Romulus and host, John Glenn, which finished in a deadlock for third place. Sandwiched between the first and third teams was Warren Woods Towers.

Romulus coach Wayne Schimming said that the tournament was one of the toughest of its kind.

"I knew it was going to be a tough tournament," Schimming said, "but I believed we could have done even better than we did."

According to the unofficial scoring, Salem garnered 154 points, followed by Warren Woods Towers (120.5), Romulus (116.5), Birmingham Brother Rice (91.5), Lincoln Park (89), Farmington (77), Monroe (72), Livonia Churchill (69), and Wayne Memorial (58).

Saline's Kevin Weidmayer, 10-3. Belleville was also fourth at 145 thanks to Bill Sparrow who lost to Flushing's Ken Paul 16-0.

The Wolverine "A" Conference season got underway last week and Belleville emerged with a 43-24 victory over Trenton in their conference debuts. The Tigers received victories from Dave Reed (98), James Bishar (112), Randy Hughes (126), Bill Sparrow (145), Jim Tuttle (155), Darryl Elder (167) and Jeff Budd (185).

Avant with LSSC '5'

Tony Avant, who was an outstanding performer at In-kster High in the early 80s, will be entering his junior season as a member of the Lake Superior State College basketball team.

Avant has earned two varsity letters during his career at Lake Superior State and finished fifth on the team's scoring list with a 10.2 per game scoring average.

Avant and the LSSC cagers launched the 1985-86 campaign against Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Howell to host Christmas tourney

With Westland John Glenn in a new league, the traditional Christmas Basketball Tournament will exclude the Westlanders this year.

The tournament will be held in Howell on Dec. 27 and Dec. 28.

"There will also be some changes next year," said Wayne Memorial head coach Chuck Henry. "Cherry Hill is scheduled to close its doors and become part of the Wayne-Westland schools so they won't be fielding an independent team and we'll be picking up another school." Glenn is unavailable to compete in the tourney because of its commitments in the expanded Western Lakes Conference.

Slated to replace Cherry Hill for the 1986-87 holiday class-is Clarkston.

Khoenle is named Canton grid coach

Robert Khoenle, physical education instructor at Canton High School, has been named head football coach at the high school.

Khoenle, who has served as the assistant grid coach at Canton for the past eight years, replaces Rich Barr, who is stepping down from the position he held for the last seven years.

Commenting on the appointment, Canton Athletic Director Paul Cummings said:

"We feel Bob is the best qualified of a number of well qualified candidates. His experience with Canton football and his being in the building where he will be working with the students who will be playing on the team were both pluses in our consideration."

Cummings added that: "We know he has a sound knowledge of football, but we are also pleased to know he has an excellent ability to work with young people and bring out the best they have to offer."

The appointment is effective immediately.

Khoenle played his college football at Purdue University where he was the leading pass receiver in the Big 10 Conference during his senior year. He also received All-American recognition on the Honorable Mention list in his junior year.

Khoenle also played in the North-South game at Miami, Florida, and the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Alabama.

In addition to his football activities, Khoenle played basketball and baseball at Purdue.

In the field of education, Khoenle holds a Masters Degree in administration and guidance from Purdue where he majored as an undergraduate in health, physical education and recreation.

Prior to his tenure as coach at Canton, Khoenle was assistant varsity football coach at Archbishop Hoban School in Akron, Ohio in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. His other coaching experiences came at Toronto High School in Toronto, Ohio, and as a graduate assistant coach at Purdue University.

Jam session

Coach Al Wilkerson (kneeling, in center) discusses strategy during a break in the action against Warren DeLaSalle, a team that the Eagles needed a rally to subdue. Boasting a 3-0 record, Romulus will be traveling to Lexington, Kentucky to take part in the Hillbrook Classic. The prestigious invitational assembles some of the finest high school players and teams in the country to the University of Kentucky for a one-day tournament that pits the finest of the national against the best in Kentucky.

Stevenson thanks to the help of senior transfer from Virginia, Sean Jones, who scored a game high 22 points. Grantham chipped in 12 while senior Miller Thomas accounted for nine.

In their conference opener on the home court, Belleville had to shake off a late Trenton rally to pull out a close 70-69 victory. Laidon Tait got the job done on both ends of the court for the Tigers as he fired in 18 points and picked off 11 rebounds. All five Belleville starters were in double figures.

Niemi seeks 1st win as Canton coach

Ex-Belleville mentor heads cage program

By DAVID CONLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Tom Niemi is still looking for his first victory as coach of the Plymouth-Canton basketball team. Niemi, in his first year as coach of the Chiefs, saw his team's comeback attempt against Walled Lake Western fall short last Friday, 61-58.

George Thompson

After trailing by ten points at the half, 32-22, Canton tightened the screws of its pressure defense, trapping and harassing Western into numerous third- and fourth-quarter turnovers. With 33 seconds left, however, Canton missed the front half of a one-and-one. Western recovered and preserved the three-point margin of victory.

Poor foul shooting hurt the Chiefs, who made only eight of 19 shots from the free throw line. Eight of those misses came in the second half. Western wasn't much better from the charity stripe (17 of 32), but superior volume gave them the win.

Niemi's team, now 0-3, doesn't field a starter taller than 6-2, but Canton made things hard on Western--and on high-powered Ann Arbor Huron in the second game of the season--with a stingy defense that confuses opponents by mixing zones, traps, and man-to-man presses.

"We aren't a big team, so we have to make our opponents play all 94 feet of the floor,"

Niemi said. "We played very poor basketball during the first half--everyone was just standing around. But we put on a lot of pressure in the second half and played well, pressuring and trapping. I think Western lost their composure for a moment in the fourth quarter, but we couldn't convert the free throws."

Leading the way for the Chiefs was Tyrone Reeves, who made several steals and played "fantastic defense," according to Niemi. Point guard Joel Mies, Canton's most experienced cager, took scoring honors with 23 points. Roger Trice and Dan Young scored 11 and eight points respectively, while center Mark Hieber led Western with 17 points.

The last week of play before the holidays has Canton hosting Walled Lake Central on Tuesday night, and visiting Livonia Churchill on Friday night.

Viking s rebuilt machine

New one looks as good as old

By DAVID CONLEY
ANP Staff Writer

After losing five of his top six players from last season's 20-2 basketball team, Inkster High coach George Thompson might be entitled to some sympathy; but after his cagers downed Ypsilanti High on Friday, 65-51, for their second road win in a week over an Ypsilanti team, Thompson knows of at least one town that won't be crying any rivers for him or his Vikings.

Inkster defeated Ypsilanti Lincoln earlier last week, 73-70, before getting on the bus again and whipping Ypsilanti in its own gym. The Vikings, who lost five top players to graduation last year, upped their record to 2-1 (1-0 in the Suburban Athletic Conference). "Compared to Tuesday night's game against Lincoln, we did a little better--as far as the team per se," Thompson said, quick to add that "we muffed a possible blowout in the second quarter with too many turnovers."

Inkster does not have much height, or many players with extensive game experience. But "our bunch of guards," as Thompson called his team, made the most of the size and experience they had by relying on 6-4 center Barry Hardy and senior swingman Dennis Walker.

Hardy dominated Ypsilanti's small lineup, scoring 25 points, grabbing 11 rebounds, and blocking four shots. Walker played "another outstanding game," Thompson said, tallying 13 points and six rebounds. Calvin Hayes chipped in with 10 points for the Vikings; sophomores Andre Hardy and Keith Johnson stepped in to help out on the boards and on defense.

According to Thompson, a little extra poise and a strong defense were the keys to the win. Things promise to get tougher this week, however, as Inkster plays Detroit East Catholic High on Tuesday and Warren Woods Towers on Friday.

"East Catholic is a perennial power," Thompson said. They have two outstanding guards, a 6-7 player and a 6-8 player. It should be interesting. And Warren Woods looks to be pretty good."

period. The 6-2 forward also hauled in eight rebounds.

Wayne also received eight points each from Spencer Williams, Rodney Sommons and Mark Claiborne.

"We had some problems getting started against them (Lincoln Park)," said Henry, "but we came back in the second period and took control of the boards at both ends of the court."

In his fourth year as Wayne's head coach, Henry served as Divine Child's cage strategist before accepting the post at Wayne High.

"This year's club has a lot of potential," he said. "Whether that potential really surfaces, time will tell."

Earlier in the week, Glenn lost a heartbreaker to Edsel Ford, 61-60, when Dan Enos hit a last-second shot to clinch their victory. Hawley led the Rockets with 16 points.

Meanwhile, the JVs increased their record to 3-0 with a 52-45 victory over the T-Birds of Edsel Ford behind 13 points from Dave Schnepel and a 63-26 romp over Farmington, led by nine points from Pat Pettit and eight from Jeff Graham.

chef larry janes

It was evident that we were dealing with a novice.

Not being one to enjoy the bubbly nature of champagne, it was necessary for me to get out of the habit of buying $2.99 bottles of the stuff and to raise my consciousness of the effervescent grape to new heights. Could one spend more than $3 and truly find the difference? Oui, oui!

For those of you who, like myself, thought of champagne as something we picked up on the way home from buying lunch meat, bread and milk for the kids' lunches, boy, will you be surprised!

Champagne is the sparkling wine produced in the Champagne district of France, the area 90 miles northeast of Paris, surrounding the villages of Epernay, the city of Reims, and a number of other small communities (and you thought it was a subsidiary of Stroh's?).

It is made from certain grapes - mainly the Pinot Noir and the Chardonnay. These are the same grapes used to make Burgundy. (No, Bernadette, not the Mogan-David or Thunderbird variety). Traditional champagne is made from the black grape of the Pinot Noir whose skins are removed from the fermenting juice before the pigment can be leached out and darken the wine. The modern trend is toward Blanc de Blancs - white wine from white grapes (Sacre Dom Perignon!) although they must be made entirely from the white Chardonnay. But in all cases, true champagne is produced entirely from the Champagne district. By the way, the stuff I call champagne that costs about $3 a bottle is really sparkling wine. Although labeled champagne, it cannot be called such in Europe. Such are the laws outside the Common Market.

Champagne was first introduced way back in the 17th century by Dom Perignon, a Benedictine monk who was the cellar master at the abbey of Hautvillers. He and the grape growers of the region were aware that wines with a slight natural sparkle resulted from the second fermentation of the grapes that occurred in the spring following the fall harvest. The sparkle, or petillance as it is still called, was a pleasant surprise. It added a special quality to the wine.

Corks were not yet invented and unfortunately, to put it bluntly, the fizzle soon went flat. However, the wine was still sought after, and eventually, brother Dom, after trying wood and cotton stoppers without great success, discovered that corks were effective when secured in the bottles by string. It is also said that the good monk was responsible for having heavier bottles made of heavier glass to prevent them from exploding under the pressure during the second fermentation.

It is this second fermentation that is the crucial step in making champagne. When making still wine, the bottling usually takes place long after the second fermentation so the bubbles are never captured.

By the way, those bubbles that seem to give everyone the giggles are only the carbon dioxide gas that is a natural byproduct of fermentation. Because champagne is bottled prior to the second fermentation, the entire process is much more complex than the production of still wine.

Would you believe that still existing today there is the remuage or manual twisting and shaking of the bottles in the cellars cut deep in the soil of Reims and Epernay. That's one of the reasons you won't find imported French champagne at under $3 per bottle. Gee, the cost of labor nowadays!

This manual twisting prevents the yeasts of fermentation and any other natural sediment from clinging to the sides of the bottles. Each time a bottle is twisted, it is tilted a little farther forward onto its nose. Ultimately, they will stand on the neck with all the sediment collected in their necks against the corks.

Now, to make matters even worse and definitely more expensive, comes the disgorging or degorgement. The neck of each bottle is immersed in an icy brine solution until the ball of sediment is frozen so that it can be plucked when the stopper is removed. The sediment is replaced with the dosage or a small amount of sugary wine that will tell us how sweet the champagne will be.

The driest champagne or BRUT, will be the one with the least amount of dosage. This is followed in sweetness by extra dry, sec, demi-sec and doux, which are produced in small quantities and are not readily available in this country.

So the next time you visit the liquor store and see fine champagne selling for $40 and more on the shelf, remember, it is to be enjoyed with dignity and spirit. Remember all those people working in the moldy old caves, bottling, turning, disgorging the likes of all that sparkling matter.

Personally speaking, after drinking my share of those $3, $4, $5, $6 and $7 bottles of the stuff, I found the imported even more important. I shuddered at the thought of paying about $9 per flute (that's the fancy name for the glass that it should be poured in). Yes, you got it, per GLASS!

Whatever your choice for the holidays, whether it be Dom Perignon, Tattinger (James Bond's favorite) or Great Western (this writer's favorite), raise your glasses high with a shout of praise to brother Dom, who, if not for his invention, would have us all drinking all this bubbly injected stuff from the East and West coast.

CHAMPAGNE ICE

Makes 1 quart

3 cups water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup champagne
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup pineapple juice

Bring water and sugar to a boil and boil until sugar is dissolved (about 3 minutes), let cool.

Stir in the rest of the ingredients, pour into a container and freeze. For a fine, snowy texture, stir every 30 minutes until frozen.

FROZEN CHAMPAGNE CREAM IN CHOCOLATE CUPS

I purchase those small chocolate cups from the gourmet store and fill them with this exciting cream and serve as a light dessert after a holiday dinner party

3/4 cup brut champagne
1/2 cup sugar
5 egg yolks

1 1/2 cups whipping cream

Combine 1/2 cup of champagne with the sugar in a small saucepan over medium heat, continue boiling till mixture reaches 236 degrees on a candy thermometer, (soft ball stage).

Meanwhile, beat the egg yolks until light and lemon colored. When syrup is the correct temperature, add to yolks in a thin stream, beating constantly until thick and creamy, (10 minutes). Gradually blend in remaining champagne, chill until thick but not stiff. Whip cream in chilled bowl, fold in champagne mixture, cover and set in freezer overnight. Fill cups with cream and serve with a drizzle of chocolate sauce.

CHAMPAGNE MELBA SAUCE

1 12oz. package frozen raspberries
1 cup champagne
1/2 cup sugar

Place raspberries in a blender and blend until smooth. Combine with champagne and sugar in a saucepan and heat on low heat until sauce is reduced by half.

Blackburns wed historically

The Martha-Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village in Dearborn was the setting for the June 15 double-ring, candlelight wedding ceremony of Lesa Ditmore and Timothy Blackburn. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Grace Ditmore of Westland and the late Max Ditmore. The groom is the son of Mrs. Delores Blackburn of Ypsilanti.

For the early-evening ceremony, the bride chose a gown by Priscilla of Boston. The bodice was accented with schifili lace and lace applique roses. The gown has a Queen Anne neckline which is edged in lace and accented with bugle beads. The full skirt is rows of schifili lace that extend into the chapel-length train.

Her veil is trimmed with lace appliques that match those on the bodice and sleeves of her gown. The bride chose a silk bouquet of white carnations, champagne pink roses and stephanotis with greenery and lace and ribbon streamers to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

Theresa Sigworth served as Matron of Honor for her sister. She wore an antebellum off-the-shoulder satin gown in Champagne Pink with a full-hoop skirt. She carried a silk bouquet of mauve and burgandy carnations with champagne pink roses and stephanotis and lace and ribbon streamers.

The bridesmaids were Pam Shuey of Ypsilanti, a friend of the bride and Annette Amann, the bride's niece. The bridesmaids wore burgandy dresses identical to that worn by the matron of honor and carried silk bouquets similar to hers also.

Annalis Sigworth, niece of the bride, served as flowergirl. She wore a dress identical to that of the bridesmaids in champagne pink. She carried a silk basket of mauve carnations and pink roses which was accented with lace and ribbon streamers to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Blackburn

Tim asked uncle, Jeff Jording of Ypsilanti, to serve as his best man. The groomsmen were Todd Blackburn, brother of the groom and John Herrings, a long-time friend of the groom. The usher was Phillip Ditmore, nephew of the bride and ring-bearer was Eric Ditmore, also a nephew of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a mauve dress which was accented with pearl buttons and lace on the bodice. She wore a corsage of pink roses and mauve carnations and stephanotis. The groom's mother wore an evening gown in rose which was highlighted with lace overlay on the bodice and lace sleeves. She wore a corsage of mauve roses and burgandy carnations with stephanotis.

Mr. Phillip Ditmore, brother of the bride and Ms. Diana Warden were soloists for the ceremony.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Jording, grandparents of the groom; James J. Jording, uncle of the groom; Mrs. Harold Hall Sr. of Paris, Ill., an aunt of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Jeffries and Mr. Harold Hall Jr., cousins of the groom who are also from Paris; Mrs. Nora J. Ditmore, the bride's grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heuser of Houston, Texas, the bride's aunt and uncle.

After a honeymoon in Virginia Beach, the new Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn will make their home in Canton.

'1940s Radio Hour' proves 1985 delight

Shining human baubles adorn the 1985 Holiday Entertainment Tree as Decorator Daniel Yurgaitis merrily directs "The 1940s Radio Hour" at the Attic Theatre through New Year's Eve.

Upon arrival we are ushered into a broadcasting studio where "live music" from the Hotel Astor's Algonquin Room in New York City on Dec. 21, 1942, is to be broadcast. Fictional studio of Radio Station WOV!

As a listener to the radio of the 1940s, how familiar this type of broadcast was with such announcements as "And now we bring you live, Dick Jurgens, from the Aragon Ballroom in Chicago!" Or from, "the beautiful Trianon Ballroom in Chicago we bring you Orrin Tucker and wee Bonnie Baker!" Those were the days! Now you can relive what might have been one of those broadcasts in those days.

Mood setting takes place for 45 minutes as we witness one of the most complete and thorough stage settings ever seen: from the snow seen through an outside door during the whole evening to the smiling face in the broadcast booth above the broadcast activity. Gary Decker, a professor at the University of Michigan and an Ypsilantian, designed the details and marvelous set. It alone is worth the price of admission.

From the arrival of the program director/sound effects man to the familiar "old doorman" leading to the final cue for the "live performance," we are introduced to 15 caricatures (would like to say characters here but they were not developed fully) who sing and perform from 9 p.m. (airwaves time) to 10 p.m. with the final signoff.

Bedlam ensues with the arrival of the featured male singer to the young aspiring singing male stud; from the scat singer wailing out her music to the subdued Modernaires singing "I'll Be Seeing You."

Ypsilanti's Thomas Cooch, the on-stage aspiring young singer, croons with a faultless, baritone voice "How About You," "At Last," and joins in as the third "girl" in "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," a hilarious piece of fluff. Cooch continues to show great potential for Broadway musical comedies. The 1940s on-stage star was a blonde-wigged, most-talented singer/actress who gives "Blues in the Night" perhaps more than it deserved. Aden Russell's showmanship steals the show with this and other numbers scored with beautiful affection.

Other songs heard but not mentioned previously are "Chattanooga Choo Choo," "Strike Up the Band," and a crowd-pleaser call the Pepsi-Cola Radio Jingle. Twenty songs are sung, jammed, crooned and belted during the 2 1/2 hours without intermission broadcast.

Hoffman appears as 'Snow Queen'

Northern Ballet theater will present the holiday classic "The Nutcracker" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 21 and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22 at the Plymouth-Salem High School Auditorium, 46181 Joy Road, Plymouth. Kathy Hoffman, 17, of Canton, will be featured as the Snow Queen in the Sunday performance. Kathy, daughter of Carol Bodenmiller, has been a member of Northern Ballet Theater since 1984. Tickets for both performances are $7 for adults, $5 for children under 12 years of age, and $5 for senior citizens. Special group rates are available for groups of 10 or more.

Craig Shepherd and James Lawson (front), Thomas Cooch, Aden Russell and Keith Austin Brown in "The 1940s Radio Hour" by Walton Jones at the Attic Theatre, Third at W. Grand Blvd. through Dec. 31. Tickets are available at the Attic Box Office, 875-8284 or through Ticket World, 423-6666. This delightful show reproduces a live radio broadcast from 1942, complete with singing, dancing, a "big band" and even commercials!

Performance times: 8 p.m., Thursday and Friday; 5:30 and 9 p.m., Saturday; 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The box office telephone number is 875-8284 or Ticket World Outlets. Performances are scheduled through New Year's Eve!

Mildred Hanchett dies at age 78

By RAY DAY
ANP Staff Writer

Mildred Hanchett, long-time city activist and founder of the city historical museum, died Sunday night after an illness. She was 78.

Hanchett was admired throughout the community for her activities and volunteer work. She is best known for her marked contributions to the city historical museum and the expansion of the facility.

Born Mildred Baxter in Romulus on June 8, 1907, Hanchett lived on a farm founded by her grandfather and continued by her father for a number of years. She attended school in River Rouge, and in Romulus, and also went to school in Wayne for a time.

Thinking that she would one day own her own business, Hanchett moved in with a friend in Detroit and went to business school there. While at school, she was in constant contact with a Wayne friend who was determined to get the yet single Mildred Baxter to meet her husband's brother.

It was this man, the late Donald E. Hanchett, that Mildred would marry and take up residence in the City of Wayne.

Once asked why she chose the city for her new home, Hanchett said, "My husband worked for the Wayne County Road Commission and we thought that since he would be travelling all over the country with his job, we would live in Wayne - it's the center of Wayne County you know."

Shortly after the couple's marriage, Mildred began what was to become a life-long historical interest in the city. She read books, newspaper clippings, searched through old council meeting minutes and asked a lot

Mildred Hanchett of questions. Mildred Hanchett was determined to learn all she could about the city in which she was now living.

Mrs. Hanchett founded the Wayne Historical Museum in 1963 "or so". She saw the facility grow from a small collection in the old town hall to a building housing a collection so vast that each room in the building is devoted to a particular time period or type of artifact. The museum just this year underwent an expansion to the tune of $165,000 to add a new wing to the south side of the present building.

Aside from her activity with the Historical Commission, Mrs. Hanchett was also a member of the First Congregational Church of Wayne, the Wayne Soroptimist Club and the Wayne Garden Club.

"She has been so important over the years to the development of the Wayne Historical Museum. It's a significant loss to the city," said Assistant City Manager John Zech for the city.

Hanchett is survived by a brother, Lawrence Baxter; three nieces, Donna, Barbara and Nancy; and a nephew, Robert.

CUSTOMER COMMENTS

TELEPHONE REPAIRMAN

Dear Letter Writer:
Please help me compose a letter telling the telephone company about one of its employees. The servicemen was terrific and I want his boss to know.

Sincerely, EG

Dear Telephone Company District Manager:
From Aug. 30 through Sept. 3, 1984, I had no telephone service on four of my business lines. Numerous attempts were made on my part to secure repairs that ultimately took five days. There is no way for me to know how much money I lost due to the loss of service, however, an educated guess would be well in excess of $1,000.

I am writing you this letter as I feel a need to apprise you of the type of employee you have in JM. Mr. M is the only repairman that I saw within that five day period and he was in my office on the third day. He is, by this letter, being strongly commended by me. Mr. M did everything in his power to restore my service, including contacting the company responsible for the interruption of lines.

Further, Mr. M arrived in my office to meet my needs during the middle of his vacation. Employees like Mr. M should not be overlooked. His dedication to your company should be rewarded.

Please see that Mr. M receives a copy of this letter. He is the only person in five days that attempted to help me solve my problem.

Sincerely, EG

outstanding work performance did not go unnoticed.
I also would like to apologize for the delay in repairing your service. I was unaware of the problem, but pleased to know that Mr. JM could satisfy your service needs

Sincerely,

COMMENT:
Too few letters of this type are mailed giving credit where credit is due. The next time someone "helps you out," let him/her know you appreciated it.

RESPONSE FROM THE DISTRICT MANAGER:

"Dear EG:
I was very pleased to receive your letter commending Mr. JM. It's always a pleasure to hear from a customer who would take the time to acknowledge one of our technicians.
Mr. M is a very highly-respected systems technician and it pleases me to know his

The new became just a bit newer last week as workers changed the former "Mama and Pasta's" sign to "Charley's" marking the new look and name official. The Chuck Muer restaurant now features more seafood choices on the expanded menu.

wall street the week ahead

DEAR INVESTOR, IN MY OPINION: The Federal Reserve Board has done an outstanding job of assuring U.S. retailers that this will be a Merry Christmas. However, retailers realized late in their ordering programs that order sizes should be increased. Manufacturers will not be able to respond to increased demand, but will ship inventory from available supplies will step up production for first quarter 1986 and this may carry forward to the second quarter of 1986. This Christmas selling season will not break records for dollar-sales volume, but this will be an outstanding year for profit margins. Expanding profit margins and low inventory levels will cause an uptick in yields this week. Short-term bond prices will be under selling pressure. Problems in the oil patch continue to cause pressure on gold and silver prices.

For this week, short-term traders will be mixed as to the direction of the market. Buyers will start the week with some enthusiasm, but that enthusiasm will decline as we move through this session. By mid-session, it may become apparent that the market has become cautious, as some holders become sellers. Intermediate- and long-term traders will hold present positions but are close to making a sell decision.

This may not be the end of the present rally, but it certainly appears to be a pause. The market looks evenly balanced between buyers, sellers and holders. Erratic market movements this week may be a function of which group happens to be the most active.

Free job placement service offered

Unemployed job-seekers may register for the free job placement service by calling The Working Channel Job Line at 577-4154. Dr. Otto Feinstein, director of The Working Channel, said a taped listing of available jobs and salaries will be played for each caller. At the end of the taped listings, the caller will be asked to leave his or her name and phone number and to identify the jobs of most interest. Personnel counselors will call back to gather information on experience and training. Both the Small Business Development Center and The Working Channel are associated with Wayne State University.

The Small Business Development Center provided training and counseling to small business owners through funding from the Small Business Administration.

A year-and-a-half old, The Working Channel program is totally devoted to the job-hunting, retraining and family survival needs of the area's unemployed. It is operated by the non-profit Communication/Security Commission. It is funded by a federal grant being administered by the Governor's Office for Job Training and the Michigan Department of Labor, as well as by grants from the Hudson-Webber and Skillman Foundations and area Private Industry Councils.

All that glitters

Gold is gift of the 'gilded' age

This holiday season easily can be hailed as the gilded age. Its gifts gleam with the warmth of shimmering gold to satisfy opulent tastes and create the fashionable "strike-it-rich" look of American and European fashion collections.

The fashion emphasis on dressing up and a stable gold price have rekindled the gold rush, according to the Gold Information Center. And an increasing variety of jewelry designs has kept the rush at full speed.

Goldsmiths have responded to changing lifestyles and fashion trends by creating a wide assortment of designs that complement every look, from traditional to trendy.

Jewelry and department stores throughout the country are well-stocked for the holiday season with an assortment of fashionable karat gold jewelry in all price ranges and styles.

For women on your shopping list, consider gold jewelry created with this year's romantic trend in mind - a rippled lacy cuff, a pair of rose-shaped earrings or a hammered bracelet incorporating a paisley motif. Pieces with unique texture and shape are increasing in importance among women who want to create an individualized fashion statement.

Other holiday gift front-runners include: gold coin and gold charm bracelets worn in multitude with several link bracelets for a sophisticated office look; gold bead necklaces worn in combination with the classic chain to complement tailored suits and geometric or angular jewelry such as a movable disk necklace or several interlocking triangles to form a bracelet.

For men on your list, consider their lifestyles so that you can select appropriate gifts. A conservative dresser may prefer gold with Old World Charm - a pocket watch with fob, crest or signet ring or traditionally designed cuff links with coins, knots or monograms.

If his approach to fashion is more contemporary, consider a futuristic or high-tech piece of gold jewelry. Mixed with titanium, niobium or stainless steel, gold bracelets and necklaces look especially up-to-date. A geometric-styled ring with stone accents for color would be another good choice for the non-traditionalist.

With so many options available, there never has been a season like this one to remind us of gold's magic and power to stimulate the imaginations of jewelry and fashion designers. So, no matter what the fashion preference, you can color this Christmas gold.

Christmas treats please the eye as well as palate

Trees are as important a part of the Christmas theme as they have been for more than 200 years. Few of us can still go out to cut down our trees. Many people now use artificial trees made to look like the real thing.

Others go in for modern versions – plastic cones completely covered with glitter beads or pompoms, or one made of lengths of dowels – and now comes a wonderful tree and wreath made of yeast dough and decorated with cranberries.

CRANBERRY BREAD WREATH

1 package (1/4 ounce) active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water (105°-110°F.)
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup soft butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 large eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
4 cups all-purpose flour (about)
Cranberry Filling (recipe follows)
1 egg white

In large bowl, dissolve yeast in water and sprinkle with sugar. Let stand a few minutes.

Meanwhile, in a small saucepan, heat milk and butter just until lukewarm. Stir milk mixture, salt, nutmeg, eggs and lemon rind into dissolved yeast.

With mixer, beat in 1 cup of flour. With spoon, stir in enough of the remaining flour to form stiff dough.

Turn out and knead 5 to 10 minutes or until smooth and elastic, adding flour as needed. Place dough in greased bowl; cover; let rise 1 1/2 hours or until doubled. Meanwhile, prepare and chill Cranberry Filling.

Cut dough in half. Roll half to 18 x 9-inch rectangle. Brush with some egg white. Sprinkle with half of Cranberry Filling to within 1 inch of edges. Roll up from long edge. Seal ends and seam securely. Repeat with other half of dough and filling.

Grease a large baking sheet; dust with flour. Place rolls, seam side down, on sheet and cut 1/2 inch off ends of each to use for making leaves. Shape bread into a wreath, crossing the ends together other one another the tucking the ends under. Brush top with egg white. Reroll end pieces and cut into leaves and shape some of the dough into holly berries.

Let wreath rise in warm place, uncovered, until puffy looking, about 30 minutes.

Bake in a pre-heated 375°F. oven 50 minutes or until nicely browned, covering leaves midway through baking with foil to prevent over-browning.

Cool wreath on wire rack. Tie with ribbon and decorate with ornaments, if you wish.

Makes one large wreath.

Cranberry Filling

Combine 1/4 cup soft butter, 1/4 cup flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, 1 cup chopped Ocean Spray fresh cranberries and 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel.

Chill until butter is firm.

CRANBERRY CHEESE TREE

1 cup Ocean Spray fresh cranberries
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
4 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup minced crystallized ginger
1/2 cup finely chopped toasted sliced almonds

Fresh cranberries, whole natural almonds, mint sprigs
Crystallized ginger slice
Bread or crackers

Cook 1 cup berries for 15 minutes in water and sugar. Drain and chill pulp until cold.

In large bowl with mixer, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Stir in minced ginger and almonds. Barely fold in chilled cranberry pulp.

On foil-lined small plate, mound mixture in the shape of a tree. Refrigerate until firm.

When firm, reshape tree until it is about 7 inches high. Place on serving plate.

Decorate with whole cranberries, almonds and mint. Cut ginger slice into a star for the top of the tree.

Refrigerate tree until serving time. Spread cheese on sliced raisin bread or crackers.

Makes a 7-inch high tree or about 32 appetizer servings.

Say "Merry Christmas" with two delectable holiday treats, Cranberry Wreath and Cranberry Cheese Tree, which are as decorative as they are delicious.

And for really special gifts . . .

Let's face it. Sometimes Christmas isn't all it's cracked up to be. Throngs of Christmas shoppers, high prices tagged to "perfect" gifts and chilling weather can put a damper on the Christmas spirit.

At times like these, a good way to warm up to the holiday spirit – and cheer up – is through an afternoon or evening spent in the kitchen baking Christmas goodies with the family. The aroma of muffins baking to a golden brown, the buttery taste of warm coffee cakes and the crisp crunch of gaily decorated gingerbread men would make even the Grinch giggle with delight.

And while the goodies are delightful to eat, they also make wonderful gifts. When baking for your family pop and extra pan of coffee cakes or sheet of cookies into the oven for neighbors and friends. Then let your kids play Santa's elves and deliver decorated goodies with the recipe attached. For an extra-special gift, leave the goodies in the bakeware, tie it up with a bright ribbon and give as a gift with the recipe as a tag.

COFFEE CAKE WREATHS

2 pkgs. dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
6 1/2 cups flour
2 eggs

Stir yeast into warm water in large bowl. In saucepan, heat milk, shortening and sugar to about 115 F; add to yeast. Beat in about 2 cups flour and add eggs. Beat in as much remaining flour as possible. Continue to add flour gradually. Knead for eight to 10 minutes.

Place dough in a large greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled. Punch down and turn out onto lightly floured surface. Divide dough into two equal parts. Cover with towel and let rest for 10 minutes before forming.

To make wreaths, cut dough into golf ball-size balls. Take dough balls between hands, shape into ropes. Take two ropes of dough, pinch together at ends and twist. Form a ring and pinch ends together. Place in greased over-size-muffin pan; let rise until doubled. Bake at 375 F for 15 to 20 minutes. Decorate as desired, with frosting or glaze.

Makes six wreaths.

CRANBERRY-PECAN MUFFINS

1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped fresh cranberries

1/4 cup sugar
3 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 tbsp. and 1 1/2 tsps. baking powder
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup chopped pecans
2 eggs
1 cup milk

Combine cranberries and 1/4 cup sugar. Set aside.

Combine next three ingredients, mixing well. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in pecans. Make well in center of mixture.

In separate bowl, beat eggs; stir in milk. Add egg mixture to dry ingredients, stirring only until moistened. Gently stir in cranberry mixture.

Spoon batter into greased muffin tin. Bake at 400 F for 12 minutes.

Makes 4 1/2 dozen mini muffins.

1985: Year of the Robot

To the Chinese, 1985 is the year of the Ox. But to toy store buyers, department store managers and toy licensees, this is the year of the robot.

Adults who venture into local toy stores today are very likely to hear phrases such as "activate interlocks," "dynatherms connected" and "megathrusters are go" uttered from the tiny mouths of toddlers.

These whiz-kids of space-age euphemisms are increasing their vocabulary by megaleaps through loyal viewership of the top-rated children's adventure series "Voltron: Defender of the Universe."

During the program, four good guys who pilot colorful "lion-robot spaceships" and one beautiful princess band together to form the robot "Voltron" in order to defend the Planet Arus from evil.

Children's desires to recreate this exciting formation in their own homes have made the toy robot one of the hottest new items for the 1985 Christmas season.

Robotics especially fit the bill for parents in search of the perfect toy with the proper blend of creativity, versatility and long-term interest level. Robot toys with a dual function, such as the Voltron cameras and watches, are especially popular because they serve two purposes. Children actually can wear the working digital watch or take photographs with the camera before transforming the items into the robot ready to aid the Alliance in saving the Universe!

Robot toys provide many of the necessary components for the de-

Man's Best Friend

Pets deserve special holiday care

Trimming the tree, adorning our homes with tinsel and holly, sharing special moments with friends and relatives. 'Tis the season to be jolly!

As temperatures drop during this festive season, we humans respond by bundling up and taking extra vitamins. We pamper ourselves and our families, but we also should learn how to take special care of the family's best friend - the faithful dog.

To ensure that everyone - family and furry friend - enjoys the festivities, the experts at MEALTIME dry dog food have compiled a comprehensive list of health care tips.

* Season's greenery. Deck the halls with boughs of holly, a beautiful symbol of the season. Yet, holly, mistletoe, poinsettias and ivy are poisonous if eaten by pets.

* O'Tannenbaum! A festively decorated Christmas tree can be enticing to a dog, but those tempting tree ornaments can cut your pet's mouth or make him ill if he eats or chews on them. Enjoy your tree, but put sharp or fragile tree ornaments well above your dog's reach.

* How to weather the wintry wonderland. In cold weather, your dog will require more food to maintain his body temperature, so be sure to feed your pet a well-balanced, nutritionally complete diet.

* Frolicking in the snow can be fun for people and pets! Do watch the temperatures, though, and call your pet inside soon in frigid weather. If frostbite does occur, cover your dog with warm towels, then gently pat

Ornaments can be found in household

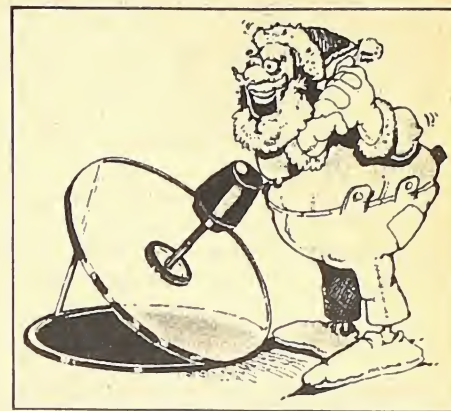

In the early 1800s every branch of a Christmas tree was covered with decorations - sometimes gingerbread cut into various shapes and brightly decorated with colored icing . . . sometimes little crocheted decorations or yarn stiffened with starch into stars and rounds.

Pine cones come in all sizes and can be converted into colorful ornaments easily. Apply Elmer's Glue all on tips and sprinkle with glitter all silver or various colors. Mix glue with good coloring and paint the cones and, while wet, press in beads, jewels, buttons.

Cover small inexpensive baskets with the little cones, glueing one next to the other with Elmer's Tacky Adhesive. Add a bright bow and you have delightful candy holders to use on the holiday table or tree.

Just Desserts

Holiday sweets designed to please elves

As year-end celebrating gets under way, it ushers in a busy schedule of non-stop social events. Almost without exception, each occasion centers around too many cocktails or heavy multi-course meals.

But a "just desserts" party – offering guests a smorgasbord of beautiful desserts, fruits and libations – can shed new light on holiday entertaining. It's a festive solution to the weary cocktail party and elaborate dinner routine.

Desserts are the favorite part of a meal, anyway. And a dessert party economizes on time, effort and cost for the host.

A dessert theme also adds sugar and spice to the more usual tree-trimming parties, after-caroling parties or holiday open houses. And it's a great idea when inviting neighborhood children in for a treat.

For a pre-Christmas event, you can inspire visions of sugarplums with a delicious plum preserve pastry. To please both adult and child tastes, try an inviting basket of thumbprint cookies with bright fruit preserve centers. For a touch of sophistication, serve individual cups of a festive mousse that will add color and variety to your dessert selection.

A New Year's Eve party also can be built around a dessert theme to put less emphasis on cocktails.

No matter when the dessert party takes place, it wouldn't be complete without the fine chocolate. Scatter small plates of luscious chocolates everywhere. Chocolate truffles with silky centers qualify as a dessert on their own, according to Lindt, makers of Swiss chocolate. And classic mints covered with bittersweet chocolate will refresh guests.

To go with the treats, offer guests freshly brewed coffee with a side tray or cordials. For those who want something free of calories and caffeine, serve chilled sparkling mineral water with a twist of lemon, orange or lime.

PLUM DELICIOUS PASTRY

3/4 cup flour
1/4 cup sugar
3/4 tsp. baking powder
Pinch of salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 egg, beaten
2 tbsps. milk
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 (13 oz.) jar plum preserves

Sift together dry ingredients. Using two knives or pastry cutter, cut in butter until pieces are size of cornmeal. Mix together milk and egg, add vanilla. Add milk mixture to flour mixture and stir. Press dough into well-buttered springform pan. Spread plum preserves over it. Bake at 375 F for 20 to 25 minutes.

Fire Marshall offers safety tips

In the interest of holiday fire safety, the State Police Fire Marshal Division and local fire departments join in cautioning Michigan residents about the use of natural and artificial decorative materials.

Officials say every year tragic fires involving loss of life, property, and personal injury occur due to the unsafe or improperly maintained holiday decorations. For a safer holiday, the following precautions are suggested:

1. Before natural trees are set up, the trunk of the tree should be freshly cut as least one inch above the original cut and maintained in a container of clear water. Tree stands must be able to provide adequate support and should have a large reservoir for water.

2. A tree showing signs of unusual dryness should be removed from the residence immediately.

3. Trees should not be located in residence exit areas.

4. Artificial trees should bear testing labels indicating they are "flame resistant."

What do tree lights cost?

You can estimate costs for lighting Christmas tree for an hour if you know the wattage of the strings of bulbs. One 25-bulb string of standard Christmas tree bulbs uses 175 watts, it takes 5 hours and 43 minutes for it to use one kilowatt-hour of electric-

5. Electrically operated or lighted tree stands and electric light sets should bear testing laboratory labels and should be examined for defects prior to use.

6. Use of electric lights on trees should be supervised by responsible persons.

7. If metallic trees are used, no electrical lights or wiring should be placed on or in contact with the tree.

8. Use of candles or any open flame near decorations is strongly discouraged. Dispose of Christmas wrappings safely and promptly. Do NOT burn them in the fireplace.

9. A portable fire extinguisher should be readily accessible in the event of fire. All family members should become familiar with its operating procedure.

10. Post the telephone number of your local fire department at each telephone.

If you have any questions about holiday fire safety, contact your local fire or building department or the nearest State Police post.

ity - about 6 cents worth.

Miniature lights cost even less. A typical 50-bulb string of miniature lights, burning steadily four hours an evening for 31 days, uses less than two kilowatt-hours. - CNS

Capture memories in photographs

Photos are almost as much a part of the holiday season as candles, mistletoe and Santa Claus. But you won't have photos if you don't take photos.

"It's really important to have a camera ready and at hand throughout the holidays," said photographer Doris Pinney.

And Pinney knows what she's talking about. As a professional photographer, she's taken pictures that have appeared on packaged goods, magazine covers and in ads. As a mother and grandmother, the former model has documented her family over the years.

"Nearly everyone's ready to take pictures during the exchange of gifts, but a lot of people are unprepared for other times during the holidays that make wonderful photos," Pinney said. "The family trimming the tree, your son hanging a wreath on the front door, children baking cookies — they all make terrific pictures."

"You don't have to be a professional photographer or use complicated cameras to take pictures that catch the spirit and excitement of the holidays," she said.

Almost as important as having a camera ready is knowing how to use it, according to Pinney.

"If you have to fumble around with a camera that's too complex, you're likely to miss a good picture and you could become so frustrated you'll give up on picture taking," she said.

Many cameras are designed to compensate for common picture-taking mistakes, said Pinney, a spokeswoman for Kodak tele disc camera. Some features to look for: automatic exposure and focus; automatic film advance; built-in electronic flash.

"Not having to worry about when to use a flash is a big plus for the holiday picture taker," Pinney said. "Another big advantage is the ability to take a fast sequence of pictures. That means you can have a whole series of pictures — a family member receiving a gift, opening it, reacting to it and thanking the giver. That sort of sequence really tells a story," she said.

Pinney offered the following tips to perk up holiday pictures — or any pictures: Get in close.

"Close-ups convey emotion and personality, the characteristics that make photographs special," she said. "Moving in close also helps to eliminate distracting backgrounds."

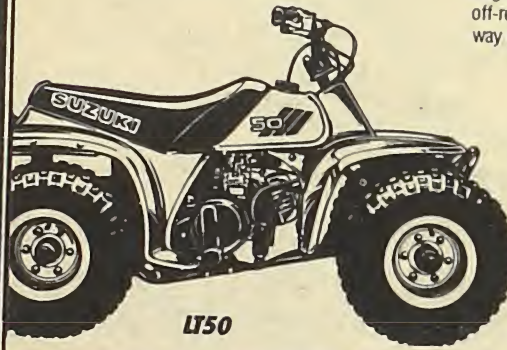

Think close when you're taking a picture of a group, too. You're probably more interested in showing faces than feet. And posing a group in something other than lineup style will make for a more pleasing picture.

"First, have everyone move very close together so they're touching or overlapping," Pinney said. "Then add interest by having some stand, some sit on chairs and some kneel on the floor. You can also use a stairway for a multilevel group picture."

"Finally, take lots and lots of pictures," Pinney said. Professional photographers always shoot lots of film, and they're often dealing with set-up situations that can be repeated or duplicated. Why should you take a chance on failing to catch a precious holiday moment that will never happen exactly the same way again?"

Appliance buyers tips

What feature should you look for in shopping for one or more of today's cordless small appliances?

First, you have three to consider, cordless hand mixers, cordless can openers and cordless carving knives. Using all three in your kitchen could tie up three outlets while they are recharging, a point to consider.

Choose units that interconnect with each other so that two or even three can recharge from a single outlet. Sunbeam Appliance Company's Freedom™ cordless products, for example, do that.

A second major consideration is how powerful each cordless unit is. You should not have to sacrifice heavy duty performance to get the convenience of cordlessness.

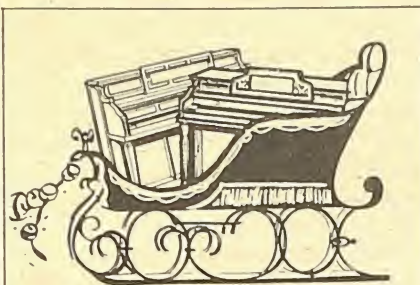

The hand mixer, for instance, should be able to mix thick batters like chocolate chip cookie batter with ease.

The can opener should be able to open as many as 40 cans on a single charge and handle any size or shape can.

The cordless carving knife should be able to carve a whole turkey, then a ham and still have power left over.

When shopping for the convenience of cordless appliances, look for a familiar brand name you can trust and don't hesitate to ask your retailer about performance and interconnecting.

Vive La Noel

Give Holidays the spirit of France

Most of the world's Christmas customs have become practically universal. But in France — the nation known for its ability to celebrate just about anything in style — the holidays are honored with particularly Gallic flair.

Long before Princess Helene brought the first Christmas tree to Paris in 1840, the French were continuing the age-old tradition of the Yule log. Originally a Viking custom, the burning of the Yule log celebrated the triumph of light over darkness and the rebirth of the sun at the winter solstice, the darkest time of year.

The tradition in France was to have the entire family haul in the Yule log. The youngest child then would pour a glass of wine on it while asking that God bless the family and their house.

The most famous French holiday dessert commemorates this tradition. The buche de Noel is a luscious chocolate cake rolled with cream, liqueur and nut filling and coated with chocolate icing to look like the log of a tree. Painstaking chefs even make meringue mushrooms to make the buche appear more authentic when presented.

When French children tuck in themselves to wait for the gifts Pere Noel will bring, they leave their shoes by the fireplace with a glass of water for the old fellow's refreshment. But on Christmas Eve, the French eat and drink much more than water. First, the entire family attends midnight mass. Afterward, presents are exchanged and everyone sits down to an elaborate feast featuring pates, oysters, special black-and-white sausages, salads, cheeses, charcuterie and desserts. The main dish usually is poultry: goose in Alsace, turkey in Paris and Burgundy. Some of the featured desserts might be the buche de Noel or a Christmas snowball.

On Christmas Day, the family sits down to another splendid meal, again based on poultry of some kind. One specialty is roast goose served with savory apple stuffing, sauteed sliced apples and sausages.

French New Year's Eve is, as in America, a time of revelry and merrymaking. And, typically Gallic, time for another wonderful midnight feast. Often served are special cream puff desserts.

Most Americans consider the holidays over on the first of the year. But the French have one more day of feasting — January 6, Epiphany or Twelfth Night, when the Three Kings or Magi were said to have reached Bethlehem to bring gifts to Christ. In earlier decades, Twelfth Night was an occasion for a major party. Today, it still is celebrated with a gâteau des Rois, a "king's cake," which is baked with a bean or charm inside. Traditionally, the person who finds the bean or charm when eating the cake becomes "king" for the night and is blessed with luck all year.

Following is a Christmas recipe from the Benedictine Abbey to put a little French magic into your holidays' celebrations.

BENEDICTINE CHESTNUT CREAM

1/3 cup sugar
3 1/2 tbsps. cornstarch
6 lightly beaten egg yolks
3 1/2 cups milk
2/3 cups Benedictine
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 lb. chestnuts
1 (1 inch) piece vanilla bean

1 (3 oz.) pkg. ladyfingers
2 1/2 cups heavy cream
1/4 cup sugar

In saucepan, combine 1/3 cup sugar, cornstarch and egg yolks. In separate pan, scald 2 cups milk and gradually add to yolk mixture, blending with wire whisk. Cook over low heat, stirring with whisk until mixture is thickened and smooth. Do not allow to boil. Remove from heat. Blend in 2 tablespoons Benedictine and vanilla. Cover with plastic wrap placed directly on surface of cream. Cool.

Cut cross in flat side of each chestnut. Cover with water. Boil 15 minutes. Drain and cover with cold water. Shell and peel off brown skin.

Scald remaining 1 1/2 cups milk.

Add chestnuts and vanilla bean. Cook over simmering water for 30 minutes or until chestnuts are very tender. Reserve four for garnish. Remove vanilla bean. Puree chestnuts and milk in food processor or blender. Blend into cooked cream. Chill.

Brush cut sides of ladyfingers with remaining Benedictine. Whip heavy cream to stiff peaks with remaining 1/4 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon Benedictine.

In 1 1/2-quart straight-sided dessert dish, layer half cream, half ladyfingers and 2 cups whipped cream. Repeat. Decorate top with remaining 1 cup whipped cream and reserved chestnuts. Chill until ready to serve.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

velopment of children's motor skills and vocabularies. Piecing together and dismantling the robot is a fun manual-dexterity exercise, and learning the proper phraseology for a galaxy spaceship launch is essential for any young space explorer!

The multi-purpose aspect of these new toys also provides parents with a solution to the problem of children's limited attention spans. The concept behind robot toys is innovative and versatile enough to meet the challenge of keeping imaginative children interested and entertained longer than do some traditional playthings.

Parents also will find that this new line of robot toys offers their children a unique introduction to the age of robotics, as well as continuing opportunities to expand their imaginations.

Living in a world filled with robotics, computers and mechanization, it's no wonder children have discovered these toys as an engaging way of helping them to adapt to a high-tech society.

Sunshine Santa

Face it, a white Christmas just doesn't appeal to everyone. Some people would rather not shiver through the holidays. They'd rather just hum Bing Crosby's song while soaking up soothing sunshine.

If that sounds like your style, take a look at the following roundup of warm Christmas getaways.

If you want to stay close to home, consider the values of Mexico and Hawaii.

Just south of the U.S. southern border sits Mexico, a tropical paradise with stretches of sun-drenched beaches, gentle breakers and warm blue waters, and ancient Mayan ruins.

Big game fish and exotic fish abound in the water of Guaymas, the water sports capital of Mexico. And water skiers and skin divers will delight in exploring the secluded, calm bays that surround Guaymas.

The richness of the Mayan lore and culture is most evident in Merida, the starting point for visits to and exploration of ruins such as Uxmal and Chichen-Itza.

If you chose one word to describe the Bib Island of Hawaii, it would have to be "contrast." Highlights range from sandy beaches to lava wastelands, from cattle ranches to fields of flowers, from peaceful bays to volcanic craters.

On any of the islands that make up the state of Hawaii, you'll find unparalleled beauty to capture your imagination rugged mountains with twisted hiking and riding trails and verdant valleys, gently sloping hills covered with wild flowers, mile after mile of beaches, either bustling with activity like Waikiki or peaceful, unspoiled and unhurried like those on Kauai.

If you're willing to travel a bit further in your search for sun, try the South Pacific.

On Tahiti, the main island of French Polynesia, life is centered around the picturesque waterfront

The Sound of Music

Gift of music makes holidays special

If you are like most people, you probably get all "wrapped up" in the spirit of giving during the holiday season. But finding the perfect gift for that special sound enthusiast is often easier said than done. A guiding thought may be what one music lover has said: "What I wanted to find was a sound that could illuminate a spiritual place within me."

Good sound can be measured by clarity, purity, fidelity and the range from loud to soft. Orchestrating your search for the best in sound — whether for an instrument that best brings out the talent of the player, or a system that accurately reproduces recorded sound — can be made easier if the key elements such as synthesis of design, quality craftsmanship and superior materials are kept in mind.

The grand piano is a perfect picture of quality and craftsmanship. As one noted pianist claims, "The piano is an extension of our hands and our hearts." For him a piano would represent the ultimate in thoughtful gift-giving.

If that person on your list would rather play a recording than an actual piece, there are a number of suggestions such as a fine stereo system, a compact disc player, or a portable stereo. The Bang & Olufsen stereo system delivers "warm" and "accurate" sound with clean precision.

Compact discs are replacing records and tapes as the reproduction medium for the discerning ear. For the latest in ultimate precision, there are many CD players available, some with digital-ready headphones.

And for those who demand quality sound while on the go, a portable AM/FM radio cassette player is the perfect gift to tune out the street sounds and tune into a favorite performer or station.

Whatever your choice for the discriminating ear, it is suggested that you visit your local dealer and the local music emporium to perform your own sound check or to ask for an audition.

city of Papeete, one of the most romantic and legendary ports in the South Pacific. Away from Papeete, Tahiti's scenery turns to lush and colorful countryside, dramatic cloud-capped peaks and beautiful blue lagoons with activities such as big game fishing, water sports and cruises.

But no island in the world compares with the South Pacific's Bora Bora for snorkeling. The verdant volcanic island is surrounded by a calm lagoon full of brilliant coral gardens and colorful tropical fish. People seeking relaxation or solitude will find ribbons of beaches on which to bask in the tropical sun.

And while you're thinking about that region of the world, how about Australia, the destination of the '80s. The Land Down Under is a land of both warm beaches, such as the Gold Coast, and sophisticated cities such as Sydney, where you can attend the opera or ballet, dine in fine restaurants and enjoy great entertainment.
